CALL FOR MENTORS: Undergraduate Anthropology Mentorship Program

(Due Friday, September 18th by 5:00pm)

The primary aim of the Undergraduate Anthropology Mentorship Program is to match interested undergraduate anthropology major and minors with graduate student mentors who have experience in multiple fields of anthropology. We offer two programs: 1) assistance on senior theses projects, and 2) a more formal program, where mentees will be required to complete a series of quarterly benchmarks and sign an agreement recognizing the program’s requirements (for a complete list, please send us an e-mail/request).

Here’s where you come in! We need graduate students who are willing to meet at least once per semester (hopefully more) with their mentee to advise them on everything and anything from choosing a graduate school to how to locate internships. If you are interested in the program, please indicate in which of the following areas you are willing to advise students by putting an “X” in front of the options below:

_____ I can assist students in the process of writing, formatting, and editing their senior theses. Note: you do not have to advise them on the methodology, theory, etc. This is more of a position involving assistance with the writing.

_____ I can assist students who want to know more about careers in anthropology

_____ I can assist students who want course guidance as anthropology majors/minors.

_____ I can assist students who are considering or in the process of applying for graduate school.

_____ I can assist students who want to know about ways to locate internships and field experiences. Note: We will provide mentors with a list of on-campus resources for locating research opportunities, internships, etc.

_____ I can assist students who want to learn more about studying abroad. Note: We will provide mentors with information about studying abroad at OSU

_____ I would like to recruit students as assistants for research I am conducting.
Please also provide the following information:
